

New talent – times two

Stewart McKelvey is proud to introduce two talented associates who have recently joined the firm.

Heidi Leslie returns to Nova Scotia after practising in Ontario and New Zealand. Heidi brings to the firm her strength in commercial law - particularly in the areas of outsourcing, technology, telecommunications and electricity. Heidi was a columnist for CIO Magazine and has published on topics for Information Technology professionals including privacy, contracting and intellectual property rights. She holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University of King's College, a Bachelor of Laws from Dalhousie University and is admitted to the bars of Ontario, New Zealand and Nova Scotia.

Matthew Pierce arrives in Halifax from Calgary, where he practiced litigation for a large national firm. He brings with him significant litigation experience in the commercial, insurance, banking, and construction sectors. Matt holds a Bachelor of Arts from Carleton University and a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Toronto. Prior to commencing his practice, he served as Law Clerk to the Alberta Court of Appeal and Court of Queen's Bench. He is admitted to the bars of Alberta and Nova Scotia and is a member of the Canadian Bar Association. Matt has done volunteer work with Calgary Legal Guidance and advocacy projects relating to human rights in Zimbabwe. In his spare time, Matt maintains a blog on politics and current affairs.

We are delighted that Heidi and Matt have chosen to bring their experience to Stewart McKelvey and they look forward to working with you.
