

Making Progress at Stewart McKelvey.

The Canadian Progress Club has bestowed Lydia Bugden with its Women of Excellence Award in the category of Management and Professions on November 19th at their awards dinner.

Lydia has demonstrated true leadership within our firm, her profession and within our community. A Partner in the Halifax office, she currently serves on the firm's partnership board. Lydia has also been noted as a leading corporate-commercial practitioner in the Canadian LEXPERT Legal Directory for a number of years.

Lydia's community involvement focuses on child and youth initiatives where she sits on the Board of the YMCA and chairs its Strong Kids Strategy Committee, is Vice-Chair of Phoenix Youth Programs and has recently assumed the role as 2010/2011 Chair of the JA Nova Scotia Business Hall of Fame Board of Governors.

The Canadian Progress Club's recognition of Lydia is without a doubt well-deserved. We are proud of her accomplishments and the leadership she provides in our community and within our firm. Congratulations!
